My dad used to be a politician.

He is retired now and has a small business.

He specializes in marketing.

He believes his new job is both rewarding and challenging.

He is always busy as a bee.

Dad doesn't usually get home until late.

There are days he doesn't have time to scratch his head.

Dad never discusses his business with us.

He has many upper and lower-level employees.

On Fridays, he spends time with my mom.

They run errands together.

They do housework, go window-shopping.

On occasion, they take in a movie, usually an action flick.

Sometimes, they just take late-afternoon naps.

As for my mom, she is a home-maker.

Crazy about her daytime soaps, she usually sits in her cozy room, just off the dining room, and watches T.V from morning to night.
